JOHN JACOB ASTOR IV

CAROLINE ASTOR

St. Regis Rituals

Afternoon Tea Ritual

The Perfect Blend Of Past & Present

Afternoon tea is said to have been introduced in the mid -1800s by the Duchess of Bedford, who enjoyed gathering friends over a cup of tea and a slice of bread and butter to stave off hunger between lunch and dinner. These occasions became a favorite pastime of many luminaries, including 'The' Mrs. Astor, who adopted the tradition at The St. Regis New York.

For her, afternoon tea was a joyful occasion and an opportunity to host gatherings with close friends as a prelude to her grand galas.

Today, Time for Tea remains a quintessential St. Regis tradition, offering guests an impeccable selection of fine teas and refreshments in a n inviting and intimate setting. The ritual is tailored to reflect the distinctive location and clientele of each St. Regis address.

The Evening Ritual

Our Legacy Of Celebration

Napoleon Bonaparte once proclaimed, “I drink champagne when I win, to celebrate ... and I drink champagne when I lose, to console myself.”

St. Regis has long shared Bonaparte’s passion for the iconic beverage, served with grandeur during our signature champagne sabering ceremony. ‘The’ Mrs. Astor, the matriarch of the St. Regis brand, would gather friends and family for a champagne toast at The St. Regis New York to mark the transition from day to evening.

The Evening Ritual remains a critical part of the St. Regis experience today.

Bloody Mary Ritual

A Time-Honored Ritual

In 1934, famed barman Fernand Petiot perfected his recipe for a vodka and tomato juice cocktail at The St. Regis New York's legendary King Cole® Bar. Originally christened the "Bloody Mary®," the cocktail was ultimately dubbed the "Red Snapper®" so as not to offend the hotel's refined clientele.

While the name may not have stood the test of time, the Bloody Mary remains the signature cocktail of the St. Regis brand.

To celebrate this unique piece of our history, the ritual takes place each day in the bars and lounges, banquet areas, in-room dining and restaurants.
